

Here are some shots of Frankfurt from my first few days, with apologies to Scotty as most of these are from my handphone:

First, the city. Very easy to get to. 2 min walk to train

There's more, but I think you get the drift. Here's my neighbourhood. Very funky, and had snow:

My apartment is the top one:

That's my balcony

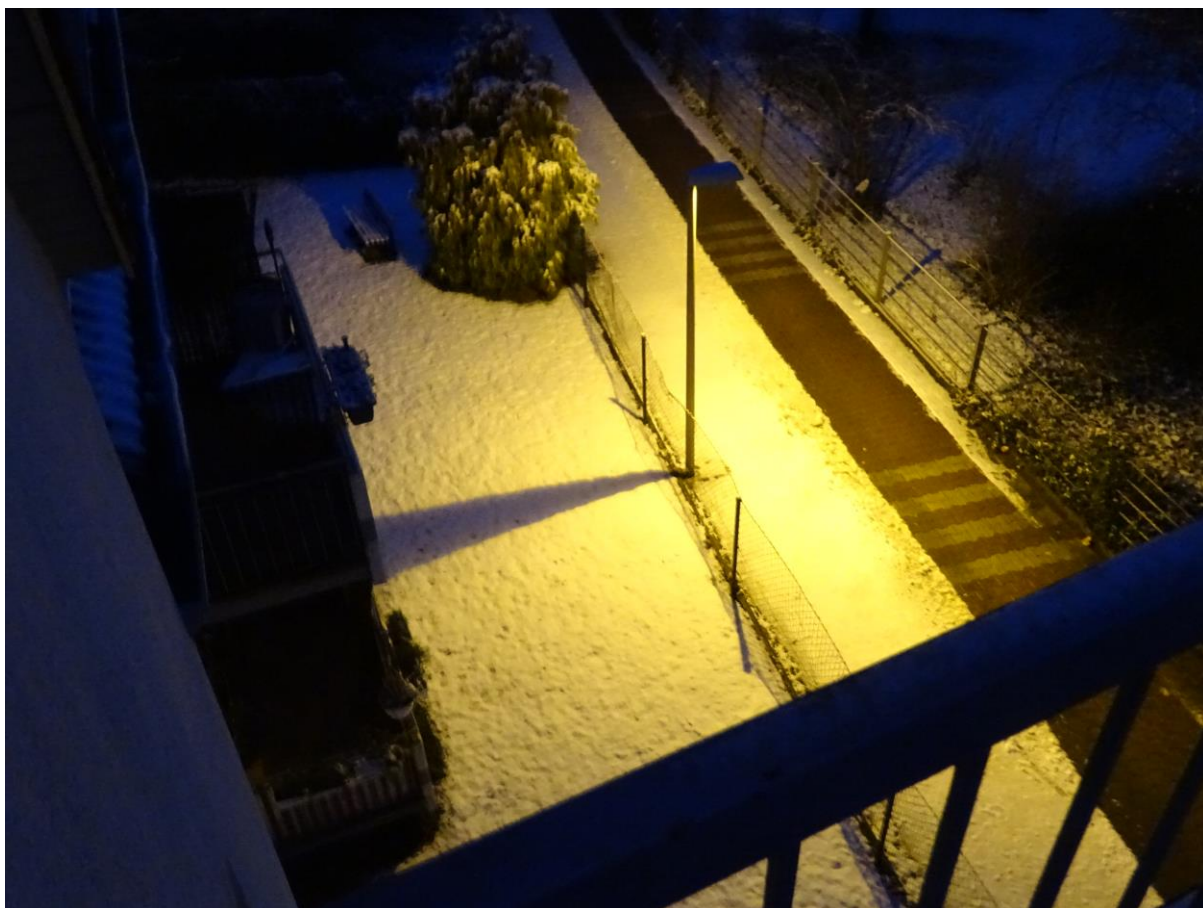

Here's some shots from there of the snowy morning:

And finally, the neighbourhood:

Will try to get some of the school, yada yada later.