ROUND 1 – OVERVIEW

by Anthony King

So the arrival of 2013 season proper final occurred and whilst many were fearing the potential rain interruptions it turned out to be a fairly hot day with a little cooling breeze. So in general playing conditions were pretty fair and the course considered dry enough that the Committee decided there would be no 'lift / clean / place' anywhere on the course. This year saw only one team that failed to bring along a full compliment of players and fortunately TeeSet had a couple of 'spares' who could oblige so that all teams were filled with requisite number of players. I mention 'fortunately' because the TeeSet had decided to hold a separate event at a different course for those who were not selected to represent TeeSet in this month's JIL. I think this could be a trend for those who did not want to shell out the million for playing at JGCC. So Captains be aware that you may find yourselves without any regular 'stand-ins' if you do not have the full compliment of players in future months

There was some concern as the 'paper-man', aka Grumpy, arrived much later than normal [complaining of hardly sleeping because he was saving the world — sort of Flash Gordon style!!!]. Sadly he had not the BIG sheet and so the Captains were forced to find spectacles to look at the small writing to determine which hole was their starting hole. Never-the-less most folks were well into the infamous Captain Jack Smootheez / Bloody Mary / V&O's for them to care.

This week we had two yong lads out from UK having just graduated and buying a single ticket to Asia to see what they could find [still not sure if this related to work or pleasure]. Anyway they were amazed at how a look at the website brought up TeeSet / clubs were borrowed / game fixed and plenty of 'quiet' entertainment in the clubhouse before some of the TeeSetters were taking them to the more 'lively' parts of town Wonder if we will ever see them again ?

DATES FOR 2013 by the Committee

Bunkers

An overall dissatisfaction was felt for the condition of the bunkers and how they had been prepared. Many had heaps of sand in the face but none in the base [so players bring a shovel with you (not certain if that is considered as an extra club!!!) to hit the ball from the buried soft sand or off the concrete base. We understand that the rains make it harder to prepare bunkers but other clubs in the Jakarta area seem to cope with the same conditions and produce consistent bunkers to play from.

Drinks Stands

Why can the stands not be stocked as golfers find at other courses in Indonesia. In particular there is a lack of snacks, no cold towels and no ice. These amenities are found readily elsewhere and so arguments about assessing quantities etc are ill founded and groundless. With the number of people running around collecting paper tickets for what has been purchased there is already sufficient staff to ensure that each stand [on all courses] is adequately stocked for the golfers coming through.

How the Matches Fared

by Anthony King

Many new faces were seen in the teams and for those new to this great match-play event "A BIG WELCOME" As is the normal custom, last year's winners take on the bot-tom placed team and so on through the rest of the teams. Never know if this gives an advantage to the current holders or an incentive to the bottom placed team.

SANDBAGGERS VS. SENTUL SWINGERS 7 : 3

Welcome back to the golfing fold to Viggo but sadly he was up against Grumpy who is playing some good golf and a 3:2 win for Grumpy was not unexpected. In the other singles Oliver took care of Keith by 6:5 but again shows that if you can play your handicap then victory is more likely. Grumpy paired Souders with Matthews but even with music and drinks they could not shake the irrepressible Rizoli [Black Sheep] and Lynch but a shock was on the cards as with holes running out Sandbaggers were three down. It was then that the Single Malt kicked in and Souders started to par in and Matthews got the final par to tie the match. Pairs saw Fairey/ Bartlett ease out Mills/Gultard but looks like the heat was coped with better by the Sandbaggers as they only drew away in the final holes. Wobbly took his coolbag of beers, not sure if he shared any with partner Aitkin, and got the fuel mixture spot on such that Goodwin/Short could only watch in amazement as he shot well below his handicap [stewards enquiry coming !!] and Aitkin nuzzled his way around in handicap.

TIN CUPS VS. TEE SET 5 : 5

What a strange apparition as Capt Smootheez was seen wearing golfing shoes and walking out to play. ... Must have been because his girls were missing!!!. Peries coming on the back of his success in the two-man stableford was up against Kilby. This turned out to be a tight tussle after Peries thought he was strolling to victory in the first few holes but Kilby had other ideas and brought back the three hole deficit and at one stage turned this to a two hole advantage. On their final hole, which was a par three, both struggled and walked off with bogeys which left Peries one up. In the other singles Garwood faced Young and both chucked in a few 7's on their cards with neither playing great golf. Garwood managed to keep his nose in front for the match and finished one up. Margo defied her size and belted the crap out of the ball [see later] and with her partner Bein overcame TeeSets post and present 'head honchos' Thwaites [complaining of jet lag and many other things following his trip to Vietnam] and Reichlmeier. What is surprising is that the golf scores were more like cricket scores [weird game played over many days !!!]. Capt Smootheez had his work cut out as he had to pair up with the infamous Bags [who thought that winning the two-man scramble with Peries meant his golfing prowess had changed]. Bags of course is not only famous for hardly ever winning a league match but also for being one of the few folks to lose their golf clubs at the golf course. This combo was never going to find Meeds/ Stallworthy easy but surprisingly managed to hold them to a two hole deficit.. So who was going to get the winning points? Certainly not Lloyd/Harline as they could only half their match with Newcombe/ Roos. This match oscillated throughout the day and only intake refreshments was the difference but no additional points for that.

CLOGGIES VS. JLI 8 : 2

So the most loved team in the league saw many new faces in their line up against the team of 'who will show up'. In fact several folks thought it was a mirage as Slusher appeared for one of his cameo roles in the InterLeague calendar. He partnered with Lawrence against Schumaker/ Roger the flying Dutch maniacs.

No matter what JLI threw at the Dutch they were met with a barrage of 'how the hell did he do that' shots and with new clubs Roger played the game of his life. Ng found his guitar man Gareth able to chip in with a couple of important holes and they eased to two up against Tom/Luis. JLI points came from the pairing of Carlos/Peter who found that Hot Wax/Mclean were fairly easy meat after creating a three up cushion. Singles saw Disney Dave have a thunderingly hard battle against World Banker Smith. Dave shot 76 off the stick and it was only the final two holes where WB Smith came unstuck after having matched Disney shot for shot and distance for distance. Bloss was slow out of the traps and struggled to break 50 on the first nine as he let Johnson race to a three hole advantage --- many of these won with double bogeys. It was weird in that there was only one halved holed in the entire round but as temperatures soared and Johnson suffered from the heat Bloss's golf improved and he won 3:2

MAD DOGS VS. POCKSIA 6 : 4

The first time we see the Formula 1 green racing shirts filled with advertising hit the fairways in their inaugural match in the League. The girlie singles were dominant as both Yatti & Iris overcame New-Dad Dyer [maybe too many late night bottle feeds took their toll] and Bunter. Other success came as Malcolm [palyed with every society known in Jakarta] and Zeno annihilated Manderson/ Smith to record the days largest winning margin of 7:5. This pair showed no mercy to the lady in their group and won seven straight holes. Tother Manderson teamed up with Livingston and at least got back a little family pride as they beat Geoff/Dawn 3:2. In the high handicap match between Arvid/Oddawan and Bunderlin/ Lee it was the latter who came ahead 3:2. Grumpy has misplaced the card and so can not give any more details on this match!!!

NEAREST TO THE PIN

In the "A" flight Jason stuck it to a 4.00 m and for the "B" flight Iris managed to beat the opposition with a shot of 1.90 m.

LONGEST DRIVE

The Men's first winner was a little surprising in that Mathew took the spoils with a 263 m drive. In the Men's 'B' division it was left to TeeSet's Ric

Wymer to poke it some 228

The ladies saw TinCup's Margo thrash it some 251 m.

TURTLE AWARD

This award for either being slow on the course or being the last to hand in their card was kept very 'hush hush' as Grumpy had to award it [must admit with an ear-to-ear grin] to his wife 'HotWax' and her partner Rae being the last to hand in the card.

Rules & Questions by Blossom

Q/. Was asked by a team who was a player short whether or not they can rear-range their team pairings.

A/. Until the tram sheet has been handed to Committee the names / pairings can be changed. But once the sheet has been submitted then that is final.

Q/. In the JIL Rules it mentions 'Stableford points'; so where do we show them on the scorecard.

A/. The Committee takes cards of people whose handicap may be incorrect and converts them to Stableford points to assess whether or not the handicap is reasonable.
